Marshall Square Retirement Community Released to Management

Atlanta- Investigators of Insurance and Safety Fire Commissioner Ralph Hudgens State Fire Marshal's Office announced that they released the Marshall Square Retirement Community to the facility's management on July 20.

In early June, fire destroyed the East wing of the Marshall Square Retirement Community. One elderly resident died as a result of the fire at the Columbia County complex.

The State Fire Marshal's Office, in conjunction with the Columbia County Fire Department and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives ("ATF"), conducted the investigation.

Investigators released the structure after concluding their on-site investigation. The case is still open, pending test results of evidence taken from the scene. The State Fire Marshal's Office will release information related to the fire once the investigation is closed.
